

An emergency meeting of the Security Council of the United Nations was held at the request of the delegate from Guatemala, DR Dr. Castillo-Arriola, to discuss his complaint that his country was the victim of aggression, by foreign forces based on Honduras and Nicaragua. The delegate from Soviet Russia, used the vote against a proposal to refer the complaint to the Organisation of American States. And the atmosphere grew tense when the United States delegate, Mr Cabot Lodge, issued a warning to Russia.

The Council vote for an immediate Cease Fire. So the flashpoint of international politics crosses the Atlantic from Europe, and the Pacific from Korea, and lights up in Central America.
