

At the Berlin Film Festival --- the Golden Laurel Trophy for 1954 was presented by General Oliver, British Military Commandant in Berlin, to British Producer Sir Michael Balcon. ~~then~~ A word of thanks from the famous film chief before he returns to Britain.

The Golden Laurel Trophy is given each year by David O. Selznick, for consistent production of motion pictures of outstanding artistic merit, which contribute to mutual understanding and goodwill among the people of the world. On arrival at London Airport, Sir Michael ~~had this to say~~ ^{Said...}