

This is the Seventh Annual Exhibition of Children's Art, organised by the Sunday Pictorial, and held in the Royal Institute Galleries in London. The pictures, carvings and mosaics were chosen from over forty thousand submitted. For her picture of the Flower Seller, eight-year-old Angela Lewsley won a wrist-watch. This won for fifteen-year-old Richard Napper, the second award of £100. The first award of £250 went to John Brooke, aged sixteen, for his amazingly mature "Portrait of Ann."

MR ATTLEE.

During the Socialist Party Tour of the Far East, Mr Attlee left the main body and travelled to Hong Kong. And here he is at the re-settlement area, where he was greeted by local Welfare Officers. This district is being used for relief and re-housing of the victims of a disastrous fire, in which many hundreds were rendered homeless.

BRIGHTON SPEED TRIALS.

Many famous racing drivers, both men and women, took part in the speed trials at Brighton, organised by the Brighton and Hove Motor Club. In events of this kind, speed of getaway is all-important and so an electric starter was used. Although the race course is so short for the modern car, the record is over ninety-three miles an hour. Here goes Ken Wharton.

Wharton just failed to break the record owing to ~~xxxxxxxx~~ a spot of trouble but his time of 23.91 seconds gave him the winner's Trophy.

BRAND'S HATCH.

Motor Racing also at Brand's Hatch..... the home of the smaller sports cars and Formula III. This day's sport was organised by the Half-Litre Car Club.

As usual, the enclosure was packed with enthusiasts. It's the home of the dyed-in-the-wool fan, both off and on the track. And it's one field of motor racing in which British cars and drivers hold their own with the world's best.
