

SAVING HARVEST.

17/9/54.

Our News in A Flash cameras record a scene that has become only too common in ~~the~~ ^{the} countryside in 1954. Bread acres that should have yielded a rich harvest of golden grain --- beaten down by ~~the~~ bad weather.

102 Farmers have worked day and night in the few hours of good weather, to save the crops from total ruin. And we have to thank the lightning work of the combine harvesters, ~~for~~ ^{for} invaluable help in the rescue. Reaping, binding, threshing and sacking in one operation --- they can work a seventeen-acre field in eight hours. Thanks to them --- and to the farmers' hard work --- it's not so bad as it might have been.

MOTOR CYCLING AT MONZA.

At Monza, in Italy; --- the start of one of the most exciting of all speed sports --- racing for motor cycle and sidecar. ~~Because~~ It's the kind of sidecar, where the passenger is mostly outside.

Wilhelm Nell of Germany was the winner, with a speed of 93.2 miles an hour. Britain's Cyril Smith was second.

JULIANA.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands received a bouquet and her husband Prince Bernhard a buttonhole, when the Queen paid a visit to Arnhem to open the new Provincial Government Building. And the burgomasters and other officials from eleven provinces, were there to hear the formal opening declaration. After the speech, ^{boys and} ~~little~~ girls in traditional costume formed a charming parade.

UNDERGROUND GARAGE.

While London is thinking in terms of car parks underneath places like Grosvenor Square --- here in Chicago is the underground car park in fact. A small section of it is on three floors, but the main part is on two. The cost of it was something in the neighbourhood of three million ~~and~~ pounds; --- but it means that, at any time, two thousand five hundred cars can be parked here --- and there's that much more space in the roadway. There are many different exits ^{where} ~~where~~ you go ^{out} ~~out~~ park. Junior
