

At the Embassy Sportsdrome in Birmingham --- this was the meeting of Alex^x Buxton of Watford and Albert Finch of Croydon, for the Light Heavyweight Championship of Great Britain. Buxton is wearing the shorts with the white stripe. The first seven rounds were uninspired, and gave us the opportunity to notice such ringside stars as Bruce Woodcock. But now --- in the eighth --- Buxton cuts loose.

Finch got up after a count of nine --- but Buxton waded in and sent him down for another.

Freddie Mills and Johnny Williams were two other famous spectators who saw Finch go down for a third count of nine.

Plucky --- though obviously a beaten man --- Finch got up again. But this was the last time.

Alex Buxton was declared to have kept his championship while seconds were still trying to revive the fallen Finch.
