

As the grey days of winter close in upon us --- consolation for many millions of fans is that it's football time; and the highlight of the season so far has been the victory of Wolves against Spartak. So here we are repeating in slow motion the first of these four goals. Spartak's goalie saved a header --- but Willshaw got to it --- and in it went.

Here is goal No. 2 as little Johnny Hancock scored it. And now --- again in slow motion --- here you can see it at ~~leisure~~ leisure. Emerging out of a goalmouth tangle --- Hancock slams it into the net.

Goal No. 3 was a well-timed effort from Swinbourne.

And here is Goal No. 4 at normal speed --- the second goal scored by Hancock.

Now --- at the other end of the ~~game~~ ^{game} --- here's a slow motion view, as the ball goes over the head of the Wolves' goalie.

But the home defence remained solid..... and the ball was cleared from the very mouth of the goal. Yes --- it was a fine game; proving that the Russians were good losers; and the British --- for a nice change --- good winners.
