

Celebrating International Armed Forces Day at Bad ~~Hersfield~~
 --- British, American, French and Belgian soldiers gave a demonstration of modern methods, such as getting out of ~~trouble~~ <sup>TRUBLE</sup>

And this is not "how to get run over"; it's ~~a~~ <sup>a new</sup> way of getting a hitch-hike.

TOWN SPRAYED.

Spraying of crops against insects is nowadays common ~~practice~~ practice --- but here is a whole town undergoing that treatment.
 It is the town of Leopoldville, in the Belgian Congo. It's ~~a~~ <sup>and things</sup> total war against mosquitos and flies/and much more permanent than scratching.

RUNNING TOWERS.

In the little town of Gubbio, in Italy, this is the annual fiesta in which young men carry huge towers round the market square. It is the celebration of the victory of Gubbio against neighbouring towns in the year 1154.

PARACHUTE DROP?

Going up over an airfield at Toussus in France, is the French parachutist Rene Vincent --- attacking the world's record. He jumps --- and discards parachute No.1. And Parachute No. 2 takes over. ^ On this amazing drop he used no fewer than seven parachutes.

WRESTLING.

In the Sydney Stadium, New South Wales --- a heavy ~~weight~~ ~~weight~~ all-in contest between Francois Miquet of France and Frank Marconi, ~~at first, more like~~
 --- ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> Miquet gave him a manicure.

O.K. Now try chiropody.

After that the fight grew less and less like Cumberland wrestling and more and more like Californian boxing.

Finally ~~Frank~~ Miquet brought his opponent down with a grand slam and the referee gave him the rubber but Marconi had the last word in Morse code.
