MISS UNIVERSE. 22/7/55

These were the lovely girls, chosen from about fifty thousand contests in forty different countries, to compete for the most coveted beauty title of them all --- the California ~~final~~ FINAL selection of "Miss Universe".

The street parade showing the country of origin, may give you some ideas if you haven't already decided where to spend your holiday. Come to think of it --- you could do a lot worse than --- see Britain first.

RUSSIANS IN U.S.

While the Big Four were busy in Geneva talking about relations between East and West --- Russian farmers on a visit to America were getting a big welcome in Iowa, [redacted]. It's a twelve-man Soviet ~~mix~~ delegation, in the capital of the American [redacted] corn country, a [redacted]

RIOTING IN MOROCCO.

Riots in ~~Casablanca~~ CASABLANCA continue to jeopardise the chances of reconciliation between France and Morocco. Despite stern measures taken by M. Grandval, the new Resident-General --- many fires were started; and therewere deaths and injuries in the native quarter of Old Medina.

FRENCH FLOODS.

Torrential rains caused a landslide in the district of Eauborme and St Prix in France. Homes were flooded, and the receding waters left behind them their usual overcoat of mud, and widespread destruction. But luckily, there were no casualties.

WATER SKI CHAMPIONS.

Lightning travel and thunderous landings, were a feature of the water-ski championships at Portschau in Austria --- but some who travelled slowly, did at least arrive. ~~Don't laugh now, but~~ If you're superstitious ~~that's~~ much obliged

The water-skiers were followed by divers -- and the straight divers were followed by the funny men.

And this is the only case on record of a comedian ~~hoping~~ to fall flat.
