9/12/55.

In Ottawa, Canada's Governor General Vincent Massey held the annual investiture for Boy Scouts at Government House..... and the first to be honoured was Cub Thomas Seymour, who rescued two boys from drowning.

The next award went to Scout Maxwell Dyke of St Johns --- for bravery in rescuing a friend after a canoe accident. ^ And the third was for Michael Maloney, for saving a boy who fell through the ice.

POLICE DOGS.

At Stansted Aerodrome is a little group of travellers with a special mission. They are police officers who have trained as handlers of dogs; --- and the dogs who accompany them, all have impressive records of service with the forces of law and order in various parts of England. Some <sup>are credited with</sup> ~~have~~ several arrests ~~to their~~ ~~credit~~. Destination --- Cyprus.

POULTRY SHOW.

Just in time for Christmas --- London's Olympia held the National Poultry Show at which the chief interest naturally centred round the turkeys. But, in addition to the big fellows, there was a large section devoted to the smaller fry --- if that isn't too unfortunate a way of putting it.

It reminds us that the show also held an indoor barbecue; which is rather like having a theatrical first night, and then giving the actors to the critics.
