

Continuing the Winter Olympic Games at Cortina --- one of the most spectacular events was the Men's Giant Slalom.

The winner was the famous Austrian ace, T. Sailer.

Now the same event for women. The Ladies Women's Course was shorter and slightly easier --- but needless to say it was Olympic class --- and that's no picnic. There were plenty of spills here too.

The best British Winter Sports effort to date was Yvonne Sugden's fourth place in the figure skating.

And now we leave the Olympics at Cortina, for Imst, in the Austrian Tyrol. It's the fourteenth European Toboggan Championships --- where the speeds are terrific and the course is rugged.

Winner of the Men's single-seater is Peppi Isser, of Austria

Now --- the two-man contest. Once again --- it's lightning, with jagged edges

~~And again the two-man contest for the first time since 1952~~

~~And again the two-man contest for the first time since 1952~~