

From London's Hyde Park --- teams of six runners competed in the Eighth Annual Road Relay Race open to the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland.....six runners from each university to complete a total distance of sixteen and a half miles.

TV FOR U.S. ARMY.

UNDERGROUND SHELTERS.

In the frozen wastes of the Greenland Ice Cap, Army Engineers are building barracks that can be occupied all the year round. First of all, special excavators cut through solid blocks of ice to make trenches.

In the trenches they fix supports and walls and roofs. And when the job is done --- the troops take shelter from Greenland gales and Arctic cold; and keep --- comparatively --- warm.

HOLLAND'S RARE FLOWER.

Holland is world-famous for its culture of beautiful flowers; and it lives up to its reputation at this flower show in the town of Lisse, in the south. The star feature of the exhibition, is this rare specimen which grows to a length of more than two yards; It is found only in distant Sumatra; which is just as well because it smells horrible.

OUTBOARDS.

Once again the time has come round for the outboard classic at Cypress Gardens in Florida; a kind of water-borne Grand National --- where the jumps land you in trouble, if you don't land in the water. Through the winding canals -- it's a test of quick reflexes. And they finish ~~the race~~ with gay abandon --- like Mother going into the garage.
