

SUN SPOTS.

13/4/56.

These amazing pictures from the Observatory at Sacramento Park, New Mexico, show the latest of a series of mysterious explosions taking place on the face of the sun. This one is said to be equal to one million hydrogen bombs. ^ It's not known for certain if the sun has cinemas; if so, it may be a film star's wedding.

DOG SHOW.

A small boy with a large dog was one of a thousand who made up the entries for the Dog Show in Berlin.

As at all Dog Shows, only the aristocrats were admitted; looking, like so many aristocrats, as if they were suffering from acidosis. ^ And some of them had a hair style ^ that made the Kennel Club look like a night club.
