UNIV 27<sup>00</sup>

29/5/56.

A hundred thousand spectators in the Olympic Stadium in Berlin saw Germany in white shorts kick off against England --- and attack with the determination that befits World Champions. But it was Edwards of the English team who scored the first goal

British troops in the crowded stands cheered lustily and in the second half Grainger made it two - nil.

For England --- Haynes scored No. 3. ^ And --- whatever it is in German --- they said it.

So England led three - nil until four minutes from time when Fritz Walter scored the only goal for Germany.

And delighted British troops cheered the England who had beaten the World Champions twice.
